We Are Grateful

Congratulations to Evan Elmendorf our 2019 Eggnog Bottle Design Contest Winner

Evan is a Freshman at Skyline High School in Longmont and has entered the contest a number of times.

Last year Evan was able to fit a ceramics class into his busy schedule, but he credits his mom for teaching him how to draw. This year, he is playing on the tennis team, wants to go out for baseball, and will be giving up competitive ski racing.

A Colorado native, Evan fuels his activities with two to three glasses of milk a day, admitting that Chocolate Milk is his favorite. Thanks for entering, Evan!

Dear Friends,

I came across a Thanksgiving prayer that seems to fit with our company, and I hope with you as well.

“For the Hand that Made the Hands” by Ewan Aitken, printed in Blessed be our Table. Wild Goose 2003

For the hands that tilled,
For the hands that harvested,
For the hands that processed,
For the hands that transported,
For the hands that stocked,
For the hands that sold,
For the hands that brought,
For the hands that prepared,
For the hands that will hold,
For the Hand that made the hands,
Our hearts are forever grateful.

We want you to know how grateful we are for your loyalty to us over the years.

Have a great beginning to the Holiday Season!

From all of us at Longmont Dairy,

Susan

MOOO RECIPES

Thanksgiving Bread Pudding

Another one of Lyric's favorite recipes!

|                                      |                                       |
|--------------------------------------|---------------------------------------|
| Cooking spray                        | 1 tsp. ground cinnamon                |
| ¾ c. pure pumpkin puree              | ½ tsp. pure vanilla extract           |
| 2 large Eggland's Best eggs          | ½ tsp. kosher salt                    |
| 1 c. LDF milk                        | ¼ tsp. ground ginger                  |
| ½ c. LDF whipping cream              | ¼ tsp. ground nutmeg                  |
| ½ c. packed dark brown sugar         | 7 c. day-old brioche, cut in 1" cubes |
| 4 tbsp. Country Cream butter, melted | ½ c. pecan halves, roughly chopped    |

Bourbon Sauce

|                       |                         |
|-----------------------|-------------------------|
| 1 c. granulated sugar | ½ c. LDF whipping cream |
|                       | 1 tbsp. bourbon         |

Preheat oven to 350°F and prepare a lightly greased 9" casserole dish. Reserve bread and pecans. Combine remaining ingredients in a medium mixing bowl and whisk until smooth. Fold in bread and pecans and allow 30 minutes for the mixture to be absorbed. Transfer to baking dish and bake until set, 30 to 35 minutes. To make the sauce, combine sugar and ¼ cup water in a medium saucepan. Bring to a boil and cook, without stirring, until sugar mixture is dark brown in color (about 15 minutes). Remove from heat and slowly add cream and bourbon, stirring until smooth. Serve sauce on the side.
